FIDELITY INDICTMENTS.

BILLS FOUND AGAINST THE CIN-CINNATI BANK WRECKERS.

The Grand Jury indicted Edward L. Harper, Ammi Baldwin, Benjamin E. Hopkins, Josie Holmes and W. H. Chatfield.
Miss Holmes is jail.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—The dead calm which had brooded over Fidelity bank matters for months was broken up Friday afternoon by the report and final ad-judgment of the grand jury. Although the greatest secrecy was observed in guarding the names of those indicted and the charges against them as crystallized by the jury, it was announced with certainty that Edward L. Harper, vice president; Ammi Baldwin, cashier; Ben E.
Hopkins, assistant cashier; Josie Holmes, confidential clerk, and W. H. Chatfield, director, of the Fidelity bank, and others were indicted.

Upon the filing of the indictments in Judge Sage's court the executive department of the United States court, was set in violent motion to place those indicted behind bars or get them in readiness to appear before the United States court. At 9 o'clock last night Miss Josie Holmes was again arrested and lodged in the Hamilton county jail. The warrant given to Deputy Marshal Costello, who had previously served warrants upon her, with the understanding that the arrest be made this morning.

Learning, however, that Miss Holmes was in Dayton, and that delay might give the indicted lady a chance to escape, Deputy Marshal Costello took the first train for Dayton, meeting Miss Holmes at the Dayton depot just as she was taking a train for home. Secret Service Detective Barnes accompanied Mr. Costello, and Miss Holmes was placed under arrest just as the cars were entering Cincinnati. Being unable to furnish bond, Miss Holmes was taken to jail. She was assigned to the room she formerly occupied. Her quarters are better fitted up, however, as Jailor Williams had anticipated her return.

The vicinity of the government building and the corridors leading to the Federal court rooms have been crowded since early morning by citizens anxious to learn the very latest news concerning the indictments brought by the grand jury against the guilty Fidelity bank wreckers.

Chatfield was the only Fidelity official within the railing up to 10:10 a. m. He was arrested for making false statements to Comptroller of the Currency Trevelin, and was put under $5,000 bond. The bail was given and he was released.

Chatfield is of the well known firm of Chatfield & Woods. His associates are Henry Pogue, Clifford B. Wright, William Woods, Alex. McDonald and Sam. Pogue.

The next man to fall into the hands of the expectant government officials was Henry Pogue, also a director in the late Fidelity bank. He peeped into Judge Sage's court to see how his friend Chatfield was coming on. Pogue was quickly recognized and as quickly brought to the bar of justice to plead to an indictment similar to Chatfield's.
Mr. Pogue, in a voice of injured innocence and outraged virtue, emphatically declared himself not guilty and was released on $5,000 bond. Mr. Pogue is of the dry goods firm of H. & S. Pogue. His associates are Samuel Pogue and Joseph Trevor.

Chatfield and Pogue were each indicted under three counts; first, that they, with intent to injure the association, on May 16, 1887, did aid and abet Ammi Baldwin to wrongfully make false entries in the statement of the Fidelity National bank.

Secondly, that Chatfield and Pogue, as directors of the Fidelity bank, did make a false entry in declaring that the association had in its possession as resources the sum of $291,310 in certificates issued by the treasury of the United States. Third count, that Chatfield and Pogue also made a false entry in declaring that the Fidelity bank had in its possession as resources the sum of $300,000 in obligations of the United States designated as legal tender notes.

Josie Holmes was indicted under five counts: First, for making a false entry of $10,000 in a draft book. Second, for aiding and abetting Vice President Harper in unlawfully appropriating one million dollars of the funds of the Fidelity Bank. Third, for making a false daily statement of the bank's affairs May 14, 1887, June 15, 1887, and May 15, 1887.

Ammi Baldwin, cashier and director, was indicted under three counts, the first three being the same as those under which Chatfield and Pogue were indicted. The fourth count is for misapplying $300,000 of the Fidelity bank. Fifth, for issuing a certain certificate of deposit of $300,000. Sixth, for paying to J. W. Hoyt, Joseph W. Wilshire, C. J. Kershaw & Co., Irwin, Green & Co., and others the sum of $1,000,000, the property of the association.

Against Joseph W. Wilshire five counts were returned. All are for aiding and abetting Harper and Hopkins in the misappropriation of funds belonging to the bank in the following sum: $800,000, $175,000, $4,750 92, $55,000, $95,500, $200,000, $100,000, $175,000, $200,000, $15,000.

The indictments against Harper number fifty-five. The first count accuses him of misappropriating $3,000,000 of the bank to be used in buying 30,000,000 bushels of wheat in Chicago; count second charges him with embezzling $2,000,000 of the bank; count third charges him with misapplying $200,000 February 12 last, and count fourth with misapplying $300,000 on another date.
Count five charges him with leaving a false certificate of deposit for $300,000 on April 23, 1887, and procuring a loan on its fraudulently; count six charges him with a similar transaction. And so with the fifty-five counts, each stating how some part of the $3,000,000 of the bank's money fraudulently used in forty-eight "deals" in wheat, in Chicago. Judge Sage adjourned court at noon till Monday next, when, if Judge Johnson be present, Harper, Wilshire, Hopkins, Baldwin and Josie Holmes will be arraigned to plead to the indictments brought against them by the grand jury. Hopkins, Harper and Holmes are in custody.

AN INDIANA LYNCHING.

Amer Green Taken From the Jail and Hung by a Mob.

DELPHI, Ind., Oct. 24.—About midnight a mob of 300 strong assaulted the jail for the purpose of securing Amer Green, the mur-derer of Luella Mabbitt. Green had been here since Wednesday, when he was quietly brought from the Michigan City prison.
Little precaution was taken, as those who would most likely favor lynching lived in the extreme part of this and in Cass county.

The mob formed in the street and posted a guard to prevent outside interference.
Then they knocked in the door to the residence part of the jail and demanded the keys. They were refused, and a man with a sledge hammer and cold-chisel broke four locks. The last door, by an automatic arrangement, unlocked the cell in which Green was confined. The murderer had been cool, but when his door opened he cried piteously for mercy and showed fight, but was overpowered, bound and placed in a covered wagon waiting for him. The wagon was driven fast and when over Deer creek about seventy-five wagons fell in the procession, which moved to Walnut Grove, seven miles east, near where the murdered girl lived.

There the crowd halted, and Green was disposed of according to the most approved methods of Judge Lynch.

When Green was taken from jail the sheriff was powerless, but took William Walker, an alleged accomplice of Green, to the cupola. The mob, however, did not demand him.

Before he was strung up Green protested his innocence and begged for mercy, which was administered to him as he was suspected to have dealt by his victim. His last utterance was to the effect that Luella Mabbitt was yet alive, and he was innocent, but the mob had gone too far to believe his statement.

Bill Green, brother of Amer, who is in jail in this city awaiting his trial, lies in his cell in abject terror, fearing the fate befallen his brother. He reiterates the statement that Miss Mabbitt is alive in Texas.

The Development of Dakota.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—L. K. Church, governor of Dakota, in his annual report, says the territory has had another year of wonderful growth in population and wealth, due to the extension of railroad lines into the rich agricultural and mineral regions, but 33,811,445 acres of public land remain unoccupied. During the past six years over 32,000,000 acres of Dakota lands have been entered. The population of the territory is estimated at 293,477, an increase of 65,000 during the year. The assessed value of the property of the territory is $137,084,365, an increase of nearly $25,000,000 during the year. The bonded indebtedness of the territory is $1,093,300.

The area of sown wheat this season is estimated at 3,393,393 acres, a yield of 60,000 bushels, nearly double the product last year.
The value of live stock in the territory is $43,824,333, an increase of $3,000,000 per year for seven years. The growth of educational facilities has more than kept pace with the growth of population.

On the question of the admission of Dakota as a state, the governor says there is deep interest taken in the question of division and admission, and whether admitted as one or two states there are many reasons why the people should not be longer deprived of the right to manage their own affairs. He does not express himself as having a preference in the matter. He endorses the Dawes Sioux reservation bill, and asks for the appointment of two additional judges.

Texas Capital Celebration.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 24.—The citizens of Austin have organized an association for the purpose of celebrating with appropriate ceremony the completion of the new state house, which cost $3,000,000 acres of land, and is only second in size to the capitol at Washington. The celebration will occupy an entire week during the month of May, 1888, and such attractions will be presented from day to day as to render the affair the most memorable military and civic exhibition ever witnessed in the southwest.
In addition to the Texans who will be present to participate in the dedication of their state house, a large number of distinguished public officials from the various states of the Union and from the Republic of Mexico will be invited guests.

Georgia's Governor to Stamp Ohio.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 24.—Governor John B. Gordon will enter the state campaign in Ohio next week, where he has consented to deliver a series of public addresses. His appeals to the governor from prominent Ohio Democrats have been so urgent that he has finally consented to take the stump.

Safes Cracked.

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 24.—Burglars blew the safe in the store of Horace Jamison, the express agent at Apocres, Thursday night. They secured about $100. They also cracked the safe in Keppel's grain warehouse at the same place, but did not get anything.

THE PRESIDENT AT HOME.

CLEVELAND'S EXTENDED TRIP FI-NALLY FINISHED.

The Presidential Party Safely Arrive Back in Washington—They Express Themselves Well Pleased With Their Trip Through Eighteen States.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The presidential train drew into the Baltimore & Potomac depot this morning at twenty minutes before 7 o'clock, schedule time. The president and Mrs. Cleveland, Col. Lamont, Mr. W.
B. Russell and Dr. Bryant were driven to the executive mansion; and Postmaster general and Mrs. Vilas directly to their home. Messrs. Russell and Bryant left Washington for Buffalo and New York respectively, on later trains.

Curiosity to see the cars in which the presidential party has been traveling for the past three weeks brought quite a number of people to the depot. Since leaving Washington, at nearly every stop, the cars composing the "special" have been thoroughly cleaned, and in several instances paint and varnish have been applied. In this way they have been kept bright and fresh, and, barring a few scratches on the sides, caused by people climbing up to look through the window, etc., they return as good as new.

There has not been a day since the train left the capital on September 30, that the drawing room of the president's car has not been decorated throughout with fresh flowers received from friends along the line of travel, and, indeed, during the greater part of the time it has been impossible to carry the floral offerings on the train. In many cities flowers presented to the president and his wife have been distributed among the orphan asylums, soldiers' hospitals and other charitable institutions. Probably one of the most thoughtful incidents of this character was in Kansas City, where choice fresh flowers were sent to the persons injured by the accident on the cable railway.
From first to last the trip has been a thorough success.

The president and Mrs. Cleveland are pleased with what they have seen, and the many congenial acquaintances they have made. Without a single exception the citizens of every city visited, irrespective of politics, have shown the most profound respect for the distinguished travelers; used every endeavor to make their stay pleasant, and manifested deep regret when the time arrived to say "good-bye." The president has more than once expressed regret that his official duties would not permit longer absence, in order that he might have complimented with at least some of the many requests for "a few minutes' stop" which have been received by him since he left Washington.

There have been many amusing incidents along the route of travel, nearly all of which have been recorded from time to time, and also very many impressive scenes.
Doubtless none of the latter were more appreciated by the president and Mrs. Cleveland than the heartfelt congratulations showered upon them at different points by old friends, who apparently had made their way to the stations for the first time in years, with a view of paying tribute to their nation's executive.

The president, during the trip, often spoke of the many elaborate decorations and illustrations of farm houses, and appeared to be especially pleased with the honor bestowed upon him by that class of people.

It is no exaggeration to say that the "swing" through the eighteen states and covering upwards of 4,500 miles has been one of the most complete ever made in this or any other country. The greatest possible precautions have been taken to insure absolute safety. Pilot trains have been run by every road over which the special train passed, and patrolmen have been stationed at nearly every mile-post.

Mrs. Cleveland has stood the hard journey as well as any member of the party, and her appearance when she alighted from the Pullman palace car this morning gave no room for a suggestion of fatigue.

Mrs. Vilas, who has been somewhat indisposed for a day or so past, was also feeling quite well again this morning.

Before leaving the train the president and Mrs. Cleveland bade their traveling companions good bye and wished God's speed to those whose journeys were not ended upon arrival in Washington.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

A Call for the National Committee to Meet in Washington.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—Chairman R.
F. Jones, of the Republican National committee, has issued the following circular:

"HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE,
PITTSBURG, Oct. 24, 1887.

"DEAR SIR:—The Republican National committee is hereby called to meet Thursday, December 8, 1887, at the Arlington house, Washington, D. C., at 10:30 a. m., to fix the date and place of meeting of the next Republican National convention, and for the transaction of such other business as may be properly brought before it. The attention of the members of the committee is called to the fact that by the direction of the Republican National convention of 1884, the call for the National convention of 1888 must be issued at least six months before the time fixed for the meeting of said convention.

B. F. JONES, Chairman.

SAMUEL FESSENDEN, Secretary.

Chairman Jones stated to your representative that in all probability the convention will be held on or about June 12, 1888, in order to give delegates ample time to perform their duties. As to the place for holding the National convention, Mr. Jones says that Washington, D. C.; Saratoga N. Y.; Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Chicago have been suggested.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 24.—The dead body of a seventeen-year-old white girl has been found floating in the Alabama river at Cahaba. When the only article of clothing, a bodice, was removed, three bullets were found in the girl's left breast. No holes could be found in the garment, and the supposition is that the murderers placed the bodice on the body after the crime was committed. The remains were interred at Cahaba.

CHAMPION BALL PLAYERS.

The Detroit Club Wins the World's Championship Series.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 24.—The deciding game between the St. Louis base ball club, the champions of the Association, and Detroit base ball club, the champions of the League, for the championship of the world, was played in this city Friday afternoon, and resulted in a victory by a score of 13 to 3 for the team from the energetic and beautiful little City of the Straits. The result of the series has been conclusive, and proves that while the St. Louis Browns are a great team they are not the only or the greatest base ball club in the world. The series also goes to a certain extent to bolster up the old idea that the League clubs are superior in playing strength to those of its young rival, the American Association.

St. Louis won the championship of the Association, hands down, having about fifteen games more to their credit than the nearest competitor, the Cincinnati Red Stockings. They have clearly outclassed the company in which they are traveling, and, with the exception of the Cincinnati club and one or two others in the Association, have no trouble in winning when and how they like. On the other hand Detroit has had a hard fight to bear off the pennant in the League. Philadelphia's club, which holds second place, is only four games behind the world beaters, and the Chicago and New York clubs are close on the heels of the Quaker club. From this it may be argued that as Detroit has beaten the team which outclasses all its competitors in the association, the League is much stronger than the Association. St. Louis, however, was not in the very best condition possible. The old reliable pitcher, Dave Fouts, was not in good form, and was hit hard every time he faced the Detroit sluggers.

One reason for the success of the Detroit club is that it was not a mere money getting machine, but is supported by patriotic citizens, who have sufficient public spirit to give their city a National reputation through their representatives on the diamond field.

After three exhibition games at St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit the St. Louis and Detroit teams will disband for the season.
Many members of each club will join combinations to play on the Pacific slope during the winter. Locally the base ball season has been one of the most successful in the history of the National game. At its close the enthusiasm was even more intense than at its opening, and the outlook for 1888 is for even a more glorious season.

MORE LASTING THAN BRONZE.

Is the Memory of the Man Whose Statue Is Unveiled in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The ceremony of the unveiling of the statue of Abraham Lincoln, which took place here to-day, drew an immense concourse of people to Lincoln park early in the morning to await the interesting proceedings by which the event will be characterized. The statue arrived several days ago and was placed on the pedestal, which has long been completed for its reception. This notable work is the gift of the late Eli Bates, of this city, who in his will bequeathed $40,000 for its erection. It is spoken of by those who have already seen it as a most admirable presentment of the form and features of the martyred president. It is of heroic size, measures from foot to crown nearly twelve feet.

Mr. St. Gaudens, the sculptor by whom it was designed, has devoted three years to its completion. The figure stands detached before a chair of state, as though the president had just arose to receive a petition or a delegation. The left leg is advanced, the body resting mainly on the right. The left hand grasps the lapel of a long frock coat, which is unbuttoned, and the right hand is held with the arm at length behind the body.
The head is inclined slightly forward. The statue was unveiled and formally presented to the people at 3 o'clock to-day by Thomas F. Withrow on behalf of the trustees of the Bates bequest.

Young Abraham Lincoln, a grandson of the president and son of Robert Lincoln, withdrew the veil from the figure. Hon.
W. C. Goudy, representing the board of park commissioners, accepted the gift and Leonard Swett delivered an oration on Abraham Lincoln. The exercises were alike interesting and impressive. Seats were erected in the park for a thousand specially invited guests, who witnessed and took part in the proceedings, including many of the more prominent residents of the city and state as well as visitors from abroad. The figure is in bronze and said to be the finest and most artistic achievement of the sculptor's art yet attained by an American artist.

A WILD TRAIN.

An Engineer, Unable to Stop His Train, Dashes Into a Depot and is Killed.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Oct. 24.—The Bonton express on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, due in this city at 8:14 to-day, came rushing into the depot this morning, the engineer being totally unable to diminish the engine's speed, because of some accident to the machinery. The engine crashed into two Pullman palace cars which were in the depot directly in front of it, and these were driven into the office of the Pullman Palace Car company, beyond them. B. L. Westervelt, the agent of the Pullman company, was in the office with his clerk at the time. Fortunately Mr. Westervelt happened to look out, and seeing that an accident was inevitable, shouted to his clerk, and both barely had time to escape.

The office was wrecked as were also both Pullman cars. The passengers on the train were all shaken up, but none injured. The engineer, James Dunn, was thrown from the engine to the platform, where he was picked up and taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition. E. Tansie, a negro porter on one of the Pullman cars, had his shoulder dislocated. The engineer died shortly after reaching the hospital. These were the only casualties. The wrecked cars took fire from the stoves in them, but the conflagration was soon extinguished by the fire department.

Pithy Points From Washington.

A man may find it comfortably easy to give up the majority of his failings when he goes into the church, but liquor he hugs to the last, so hard is it to shake himself of this evil.

If the people who favor temperance worked as hard and presented as solid a front as do its enemies, it would be only a short time until we shook ourselves clear of whisky and the rum traffic.

Some say that if a man can't control himself he ought not to touch liquor. Now this is no news, nor is it very smart, for a child would know as much, but, show us one man that controls himself in drinking whisky and we will show hundreds that whisky controls.

Let's try the plan of getting liquor from under the noses of those who say they would like to quit drinking and see how this works; for there is not a man living who can leave off the drinking habit, with whisky constantly under his nose.

The favorite, Belle Gilbert, with Gilbert Comedy Company at the opera house this week, beginning to-night. Popular prices—15, 25 and 35 cents.

"That Miss Jones is a nice-looking girl, isn't she?"

"Yes, and she'd be the belle of the town if it wasn't for one thing."

"What's that?"

"She has catarrh so bad that it is unpleasant to be near her. She has tried a dozen things and nothing helps her. I am sorry, for I like her, but that doesn't make it any less disagreeable for one to be around her."

Now if she had used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, there would have been nothing of the kind said, for it will cure catarrh every time.

CAMPBELL-GREEN.

An Ex-Citizen of Maysville Weds a Charming Young Lady at Muncie, Ind.

Brief mention has been made already of the marriage of Arthur M. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Campbell, of this city, at Muncie, Ind., on the 19th instant. The following particulars of the happy event are taken from the Muncie Daily News, of the 20th, which says:

"Last evening, at the beautiful home of Mr. Charles Green, on East Main street, Mr. A. M. Campbell and Miss Millie Green were wedded. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. S. Guthrie, at 8:30 o'clock. The wedding was witnessed by none except the bride's nearest relatives and a few friends.

"No formal announcement of the wedding had been made, and until printed in yesterday's News it was unknown to all. Of course there had been many pleasant surmises, yet the wedding created quite a flutter of excitement in the social circles of Muncie.

"Miss Green, now Mrs. Campbell, is the charming young daughter of Mr. Charles Green, the stove and tinware merchant. She has lived in Muncie all her life, has been known in society for the past three years and has always been a charming favorite.

"Mr. Campbell is a new resident of Muncie. Until recently his home was in Maysville, Ky. He is one of the gentlemen who are to build the projected street railway, is Secretary of the Kinneer Manufacturing Company, and has other business interests here. He is a very pleasant gentleman and an excellent citizen. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will take room and board, but expect to have a home of their own before many months."

Sight-Seeing in Cincinnati.

James Gault, a tobacco-grower living near Washington, is well known in this city. A few days ago he went to Cincinnati on a business trip, and while there fared rather roughly at the hands of a fellow whom he met, if all reports are true.

The Enquirer says Mr. Gault started out to have a little pleasure, after having disposed of his business. W. C. Davis, a well-known character of that place, got in with him in some way or other. Before leaving the Galt House, where he was stopping, Gault had drawn $89 out of the safe. When next heard of, Gault was minus $74, and claimed his new found friend had "touched" him for that amount. Davis was arrested on suspicion.

Bloody Tragedy Caused by Three Cents.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 24.—A family row that will result fatally occurred Thursday night. Joseph Jacques, aged seventy-six, stabbed his son-in-law, Adolph Lathe, aged fifty-two, in the abdomen, cutting a terrible gash. The wounded man, with the knife sticking in him, chased his assailant a block before he fell. Jacques has not been seen since the tragedy, and it is thought he has committed suicide by drowning. The dispute arose about a trivial charge of three cents for sharpening a knife.

Ives, has obtained an injunction from Judge Donohue, of the supreme court, restraining the officers of the stock exchange from selling or disposing of his seat in the exchange, or in any way interfering with his ownership. The injunction also restrains the passage of any resolution declaring Dorems ineligible for reinstatement, or expelling him, or declaring the seat vacant or liable to sale.

Greatest Place on Earth in 1888.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—The printing committee of the centennial exposition hold daily sessions, and an immense amount of work is formulated at every sitting. The gentlemen who have this branch of the enterprise in their keeping believe in the efficacy of advertising, and the centennial bids fair to be the best advertised scheme ever started. CLEMENTS' WATCH.

A Valuable "Ticker" Traded for a Ten-Cent Drink, but Returned Afterwards to Owner.

Granville Clements, the Wall-street saloonist, has been exhibiting signs of insanity of late, and his condition became so serious last week that it was decided to take him to Cincinnati, and place him in the College Hill Sanitarium for treatment. He left here last Friday at noon in the care of his brother, John Clements, and a friend. Upon their arrival at Cincinnati the three stopped in at Boman's Restaurant, on Fourth street, for supper.

While seated at the table Clements managed in some way to elude his guards, and started out to investigate the mysteries of the city for himself. He had no money, but wore a gold watch and chain valued at $150. His absence had just created an alarm when he returned and saluted his brother with the remark, "Come on and get my watch; I pawned it for a ten-cent drink." The two went to the place where Clements said he left his watch, while absent, but the bar-keeper disclaimed any knowledge of it. Every saloon in the vicinity was visited, but the befuddled man could not tell just where he left it, and the man who had it was particular to say nothing. A long search was made to no purpose, and about midnight the crazy man succeeded again in getting away from his brother. This time he was found at Longworth and Plum in a hack and was taken to the Central Police Station and locked up for safe keeping.

An account of the affair appeared in the Daily Enquirer the next morning. Mrs. Anton Henke, who keeps a saloon at No. 34 East Third street, saw the item in the paper. She then remembered that a man had come into her place the night before, drank a drink of whisky, and pulling off his watch and chain threw it on the counter and left before she could recover from her astonishment. Mrs. Henke on reading the account at once took the time-piece and chain to Hammond street Station, where they were identified by Clements' brother.

The Enquirer says: "Clements was kept locked up at Central Police Station until noon Saturday, when he was taken out to the Sanitarium by Court Officer Morris. While on the way to the institution Clements suddenly leaped from the carriage. The officer followed him to the roadway. Clements picked up a large stone and defied the officer, who had been reinforced by the driver of the carriage, ex-officer Tom Finn. After considerable difficulty they managed to disarm Clements and induce him to re-enter the carriage. The journey was then made without further trouble to the Sanitarium, where Clements was placed for safety."

The services were conducted by Elder Teagarden, of the Christian Church. Among the others in attendance from this city at the funeral were Messrs. John W. Alexander, John L. Whitaker, C. D. Newell, L. W. Galbraith and Postmaster A. C. Respass.

THE low-water packet Tom Spurlock has always sported a very different whistle from that of other boats. When she made her appearance a few years ago, the shrill shrieks of her "mocking-bird" whistle caused almost every animal within hearing distance to dash away at a 2:40 gait. Now she carries a C. & O. passenger locomotive whistle that fools a good many every time she signals for this place.

H. E. HUNTINGTON and wife were recently at Ironton, and the Saturday Irontonian says: "He seems to be, and is, according to report, superintending the construction of the new road. His business here, while ostensibly of a social nature, was for the purpose of examining the river front with a view of selecting a site for a freight and passenger depot on this side of the river and to the establishment of a free ferry from this city to the Kentucky side. It is apparent that it is the intention of the management of the M. & B. S. R. R. to receive freight and passengers in Ironton and to transport them to destination free of charge."

THE alarm of fire yesterday morning at half past 11 o'clock was caused by the burning of a small out-building in the rear of the residence of James Smith, of Second street. A pan of ashes had been dumped near the building in the morning, and the heavy wind that prevailed fanned the sparks into a blaze. The alarm caused a serious interruption to the services in the various churches.

Use the Lightning Fuel and there will be no danger of fire from ashes. For sale by Harry Owens, at Owens & Barkley's.

T. F. KIFF, of this city, organized a division of the Sons of Temperance Saturday night at Stewart's Chapel on Bull Creek, with thirty-three applicants for charter membership. This makes the third division in Mason County.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

A BRIEF SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT CABLE DISPATCHES.

Ireland's Chief Secretary Makes a Statement About the Raid Upon Farmer Sexton's House—Coercion in Ireland. Public Opinion on the Subject.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The haste with which Mr. Arthur J. Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, comes forward to deny the statement that the raid upon Farmer Sexton's house, resulting in the killing of Constable Whelan, was organized by the inferior Callinan at the instigation of the police in the fact that Callinan himself has so testified, denotes that the chief secretary is not nearly so defiant of public opinion concerning the present administration in Ireland as he would have it believed.

While Callinan's testimony may or may not be true, it must either be accepted in its entirety or wholly disregarded. There is no part of his deposition that does not show him to be as thorough a scoundrel as ever disgraced mankind by his existence, yet the attendant circumstances of the raid in question and the corroborative testimony of other witnesses prove that he told the truth when he confessed his alliance with the police in manufacturing evidence of Irish crime. The case involving Whelan's death and Callinan's infamy has been disposed of, for the present, at least, and in making it up for the purpose of denying statements already proved, Mr. Balfour incurs the suspicion of attempting to raise a cloud of dust with the object of blinding the people to other outrages in which the government officials much higher in rank than mere constables are immediately concerned.

Nobody doubts Mr. Balfour's willingness or even anxiety to enforce coercion in the most rigorous manner, to cause the people of Ireland to writhe and groan under the crushing weight of the statutes literally applied and to forever deprive them of the rights granted to the people and had accorded by the governments of every other civilized nation on the globe than Ireland, but everybody acquiesces in his cowardice, or desire to employ under-hand methods in accomplishing his purpose.

The question, therefore, naturally arises: Does the Irish secretary realize that he has braved public opinion too far, or does he really believe that he is able to hoodwink the British public and the people of Ireland as well by the specious plea of a general denial? It would be well for himself, for the government and for the people if an affirmative answer to the first question is the correct one. He has established himself in Dublin with the avowed purpose of enforcing a single law to the fullest extent, subordinating every other statute thereto. Other laws may be violated unheeded, but the crimes act must be obeyed in its minutest particular. In short, Mr. Balfour proposes to govern Ireland under one law, while the people insist upon the enforcement of all the laws. The experiment is not new; it has been tried in other countries and by other men than Mr. Balfour, with the uniform result of total failure, and Mr. Balfour will fail, too.

Public opinion as well as public policy is against this method of government and this fact alone is a guarantee that the present system cannot prevail. Mr. Balfour, while practically the autocrat of Ireland, is virtually a prisoner. He is attended by detectives and constables wherever he goes and his private and official apartments are surrounded by military guards. He is not free to go about unattended as other men do, nor is he in the enjoyment at any moment of that immunity from personal harm which a high official of the queen of Great Britain and Ireland should feel at all times within the borders of his own country. Let him enforce all the laws with entire impartiality and his personal safety will be as fully assured as that of any man in the kingdom, but if he continues in his present course, not all the power the government is possessed of can avert the danger to his personal safety which he will bring upon himself.

Labor Trouble in London. LONDON, Oct. 24.—A dense fog prevailed here, and it is feared that the unemployed workmen who have been creating disturbances for the past few days, will take advantage of this fact to make further trouble. At present everything is quiet, and the crowds in the parks are small.

ARRESTED FOR ARSON.

A Fire in a St. Louis Hotel Under Suspicious Circumstances. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—The Golden Gate hotel on Market street was on fire at an early hour yesterday morning, and A. M. Daly, the proprietor, is in jail charged with arson. There were over two hundred persons sleeping in the building, and a narrow escape from a holocaust occurred, although the actual damage to the building is slight. A printer on a morning paper, named Patrick Larkin, is in jail in connection with the affair. Larkin says he went to bed in an "L" part of the hotel about 2 a. m. Soon after he smelled coal oil burning, and getting up he discovered a fire raging in the hall. He went to the main part of the building and told Daly his house was on fire. Daly, he says, answered, "Good God, man, do you want to ruin me! Shut up your mouth."

Larkin asked: "What are you going to do about all these people in your house," and started to turn in an alarm. Daly prevented him, and soon some one else turned in the alarm, and Daly ran up stairs and put the fire out before the department arrived. Daly was arrested, and on his making counter-charges against Larkin the latter's arrest followed.

A Bride Becomes a Raving Maniac. OWENSBORO, Ky., Oct. 24.—Miss Fannie Moore, daughter of Mr. Levi Moore, one of the most respected citizens of the county, and Dr. J. D. Coffman, a prominent physician, were to have been married Thursday. The doctor failed to come to time, and Miss Moore procured a pistol and going to his residence opened fire on him. She fired two shots, neither of which took effect, when he seized the pistol and threw it away, and has not been heard of since. Miss Moore returned to her home, and is now a raving maniac.

Using the Mails to Defraud. CINCINNATI, Oct. 24.—Lewis A. Leonard, the late editor of the defunct Sun, was arraigned before Judge Sage today on an indictment found by the United States grand jury, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with Guy Weber, in the "Pie" and "Land" schemes. He is now in jail.
